IN THE SPECIFICATION (page 2, penultimate paragraph, line 21):

The molded component could be fabricated, for example, from ~~electrically insulating or~~ electrically conducting plastic. In order to reduce the fabrication costs of the connecting element according to the invention further it is beneficial if the molded component is fabricated from sheet metal, preferably from sheet steel.